WILL IT CURE ME?

That's the personal question a woman asks herself when she reads of the cures of womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Why shouldn't it cure her?

Is it a complicated case? Thousands of such cases have been cured by "Favorite Prescription." Is it a condition which local doctors have declared incurable? Among the hundreds of thousands of sick women cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription there are a great many who were pronounced incurable by local doctors. Wonders have been worked by "Favorite Prescription" in the cure of irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"I commenced taking your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' nearly a year ago for chronic inflammation of womb, and can truly say it is the only thing that ever did me any good," writes Mrs. L. C. Wagner, of 125 Edgin Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada. "I could not walk any distance before using it. After taking six bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' I find I can walk without difficulty and am greatly benefited in general health. Would advise all suffering women to use Dr. Pierce's medicine."

Pierce's Pleasant Pellets — These are the Original Little Liver Pills, first put up over 40 years ago, by old Dr. R. V. Pierce. They've been much imitated but never equaled. Smallest, easiest to take and best. They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance or trouble, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick and bilious headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured. Permanently cured, too. By their mild and natural action, these little Pellets gently lead the system into natural ways again. Their influence lasts.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

General Garnett's Sword.

A valuable relic of the war between the States, which has been in the possession of Mr. James E. Steuart, was yesterday forwarded to the rightful owner. It is the sword of Gen. Richard B. Garnett, who commanded a brigade in the famous charge of Pickett's division at Gettysburg, in which General Garnett was killed. The sword is after the pattern for artillery officers in the United States army and is inscribed "R. B. Garnett, U. S. A." The blade is of fine metal, elaborately embelished. It is in perfect order. The scabbard is of fine steel, but somewhat rusty.

General Garnett resigned from the United States army in 1861 at the outbreak of the civil war and was promptly commissioned in the Confederate army. Prior to serving under General Pickett he served under Stonewall Jackson, and was rated among the bravest and ablest of the West Pointers who served the Confederacy. General Garnett was last seen leading his brigade in Pickett's charge. He was mounted and his horse was bleeding from a wound. His body was not identified and will always lie among the unknown Confederate dead.

The recovery of General Garnett's sword is due to the late Gen. George H. Steuart, of Baltimore, also a West Point graduate, who also led his brigade in a desperate charge at Gettysburg a few hours before Pickett's charge. Had both charges been entirely successful, it is said, the two Confederate lines, moving toward each other from opposite directions, would have overlapped.

Years ago General Steuart found in a second-hand shop in Baltimore this sword of General Garnett and purchased it. General Steuart died November 22, 1903. Mr. James E. Steuart, his nephew, is now enabled to forward the sword to its rightful possessor by descent, who is the wife of Col. John B. Purcell, a Confederate veteran, of Richmond. General Garnett was the only remaining brother of Mrs. Purcell's mother, who was deeply attached to him and, though Colonel Purcell, has assured Mr. Steuart that the sword will be treasured by her, a niece of General Garnett, as a precious heirloom.

Mrs. Todd Murdered.

That Mrs. Margaret Todd, the aged, wealthy and eccentric resident of New York, believed that there was in existence a conspiracy to dispose of her and seize her money, as Patrick did with Rice; that on the very afternoon before her death she had an appointment to sign a new will for the purpose of circumventing the conspirators, and that she was dead before her body was placed on the Reading tracks in Philadelphia form the principal hypothesis in a foul-play theory which gained greater credence yesterday than at any other time since the study of her eccentric life and mysterious death began.

Of the truth of her statement that she likened her state to Rice's letters in her own handwriting contributed the evidence—letters that showed not only her idea that a conspiracy was afoot against her estate, but disclosed, as nothing else could, the chicanery, sycophancy and intrigue practiced in the court of the red-wigged dowager, at 73, vain of her beauty, surrounding herself by women many years younger than herself and watched with keen and alert eyes by men dependent upon her.

Of her purpose to execute a new will on her last departure from the Von Hoffman apartments, a statement, substantiated later by a much more reliable witness, was made by G. W. Amoil, manager of her hotel, an old, weazened, decrepit little man, deaf and half blind, who sat all day yesterday in a dingy room in the Von Hoffman with reams of foolscap before him, inditing laboriously, at the urgent insistence of Lawyer Hastings and Sinclair Tousey, the whole story of his relations with the dead woman and telling, it is believed, the exact truth for the first time since her death.

Of the belief that life was extinct before the body touched the railroad substation was given by an autopsy disclosing a body with 14 fractured ribs, a broken sternum and a broken vertebrae covered, despite these fatal injuries, by clothing so little disarranged that even corset and its cover were intact.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.

Herb W. Edwards, of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knees. "The next day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that this bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days' time, to say nothing of the suffering." This liniment is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Let Common Sense Decide

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not over-clean), "blended," you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are skillfully roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen.

This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES.

Millions of American Homes welcome LION COFFEE daily. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity. "Quality survives all opposition."

Bound Freshman to Track.

Paul Barber, a Zeta Alpha freshman, at Mount Vernon, Ohio, has, according to Prosecuting Attorney Stillwell, given the most important testimony so far secured in the secret inquest into the death of young Stuart Pierson, the Kenyon College student killed by an engine on the railroad track at Gambier last Saturday night. Barber, it is said, testified that he lay bound and blindfolded upon the track, not 200 yards from the spot where Pierson was mangled to death, waiting for his two initiators, who, he says, were Jacob Ewalt and J. B. Park. This, Barber declared, occurred about an hour before Pierson's life was crushed out.

"We have conclusively established," said Prosecutor Stillwell yesterday, "that it is a custom at the college to tie candidates to the tracks in the initiation ceremonies. We have positive evidence from Barber's lips and otherwise that he was so tied. We know that a special train for the removal of the body was ordered before the undertaker was sent for. We know of the activity before daylight that morning to remove every trace of blood and clothing."

Yesterday's testimony in the Pierson inquest developed the fact that the boy lay prostrate on the track when the engine struck him, also that he may have been tied to the track by another initiating party which was out and had bound its victim to the rails. The previous evidence that it was the custom of the fraternity men to tie candidates to the tracks was corroborated in yesterday's testimony.

A week before his death Pierson, it was brought out in the examination, was compelled by the fraternity men to crawl the length of the village, goaded behind by men with sticks and clubs, and this treatment developed deep abscesses on his knees. The bandages which Dr. Workman placed about the sores were on the body when it was found.

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store; price 50c.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 4, 1905.

THE DEMOCRATIC meeting last night at the Opera House was greatly enjoyed by all present. The speeches of Senator Thos. S. Martin, Delegate J. R. Caton and Mr. Charles Bendheim were to the point and abounded in facts and figures which cannot be controverted. The arraignment of the present republican party of Virginia was severe and unanswerable, and each plank of their platform was shown to be punk—only this and nothing more. Their announcement, for instance, that they have eliminated the negro from the politics of Virginia is the veriest nonsense in the light of facts. The democratic party, as the speakers last night showed, has relieved the State of that dead weight, and now their adversaries, strange to say, would appropriate to themselves the credit of having brought about the great desideratum. The republicans now pose as a new party, when, as all should know, it is the same old false face that has ever and anon bobbed up in the Old Dominion since the days of reconstruction and appealed to the people to turn the State over to them. Of course a large majority of the people have no intention of doing any such thing. Many democrats were unable to be present last night, and they are especially urged to read the reasonings of the speakers, elsewhere in the Gazette. All can profit by perusing the reports carefully. The free school bait should receive the especial attention of taxpayers, as the republicans would like to be in a position to spend half a million dollars in books for those who pay little or nothing of the school tax, and leave the provident to pay it all.

THE STATE election will take place Tuesday. The republicans have waged an active campaign for the past two months, and have succeeded in arousing the members of that political party to do their utmost next Tuesday. Chairman Ellyson, Secretary Button and those who are actively identified with the democratic campaign have no fear of the result, save that the democrats are showing little interest in the result. The democrats can and will carry the State, but there is reason to fear surprises and the indifference of the people in the election may contribute to the defeat of good democrats and place in office people who are not the choice of the majority of the voters. Chairman Ellyson has issued an address in which he calls upon the voters to do their duty. It is a strong paper and should arouse all democrats to action. It sets forth clearly how excellently the democrats have administered the affairs of the State.

SOME republicans are now trying to impress upon democrats who voted in the last State primary that they are under no obligation to vote for the nominees of the party at the election to be held next Tuesday. These men have evidently adopted the idea introduced into politics during readjustment times, that "honor will not buy a breakfast."

OF COURSE no law-abiding man will urge lynching, but should a hanging bee take place at Gambier, Ohio, where several students tied a companion to a railroad track and left him to be run over and killed, they would have but themselves to blame. The act was a most atrocious one and the criminals should be dealt with most seriously.

IT IS the duty of those who were nominated at the democratic primary last May for State and city offices to see that the full vote of the democrats in every precinct next Tuesday for the whole ticket.

He had expressed a desire to visit the Library of Congress and spent more than an hour there. Then the party went through the Capitol. The prince asked about the portion of the building that was burned by the British when they occupied the building in the war of 1812. After being shown through the Capitol the prince was taken through the Mall, the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum being pointed out and the Washington Monument viewed from the base. All the party were gorgeously decorated with the gold lace of the British naval uniform and attracted much attention. The sightseeing tour was brought to an end by the necessity of being at the Willard at 1 o'clock as the guest of Lieut. General Chaffee, who gave a luncheon on behalf of the army to the prince. Forty officers were in attendance. This afternoon Prince Louis started to Fort Myer, where he will witness a cavalry drill. CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 3.—The press censorship which has been exercised in Russia from time immemorial will cease on Sunday, after which newspapers will be amenable to the criminal law for anything libellous appearing in print. The government intends to make the liberal laws very stringent and this will amount almost to a continuance of the censorship.

Prince Alexis Obolensky has been appointed assistant new chief procuraror of the Holy Synod to succeed M. Pobiedonostseff, who resigned following the proclamation of the constitution by the Czar, because of his opposition to liberal reforms in Russia.

The ukase of the Czar granting amnesty, which has been made public, proclaims that a free pardon is extended by the emperor to all political prisoners coming in certain categories enumerated by the decree, as well as to all participants in strikes and persons held responsible for breaking contracts. The pardon extends not only to persons now in prison, but to those who have not yet been tried or sentenced. Those who are now serving as colonists will be allowed, after four years, to choose their place of residence, but are prohibited from living in St. Petersburg or Moscow.

Today saw a general resumption of work in St. Petersburg, the workmen, with the exception of the railway employees, returning to their former positions.

London, Nov 4.—A dispatch to Lloyds, from its agent at Mariupol, Russia, dated November 3, says: "This is the third day of rioting, the attack being directed against the Jews. All work is at a standstill. The shops have been broken into and a number have been burned. Many persons have been killed and wounded during the disorders."

Lloyds agent at Nikolaieff, Russia, wires that the rioting there has ended. The grain warehouses and the shipping are undamaged.

A dispatch to the Central News from Odessa says that in the desperate rioting which occurred today more than 500 persons were killed or wounded.

The Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent sends an unconfirmed report that Kishineff has been absolutely destroyed by fire.

Bucharest, Nov. 4.—Refugees who have arrived here from Kishineff, Russia, give a terrible account of the Jewish outrages which have been committed there. A large part of the town was burned and several streets were wholly destroyed. Shops were pilliaged and Jews were dragged from their hiding and thrown into the flames of the burning buildings. Rioters bombarded the houses of the Jews with guns taken from soldiers, while the governor and other authorities remained out of sight. The railway station has fallen into the hands of the mob All the government of Bessarabia, according to the refugees, is in revolt.

Odessa, Nov. 4.—The terrorists are exerting every effort to drive Jews out of their houses. They are even ransacking dwellings on the suspicion that there are Jews within. Last night the mob burst beyond all bounds of control and every Jew who could be found was treated diabolically. Many were killed. A friend who went to the outskirts of the city has just returned. He says no words can describe the situation. The mobs in such sections have been able to secure intoxicants and the rioters are fighting drunk. They are stopping all passers-by and forcing them at the points of revolvers to prove that they are not Jews.

Conditions in Finland.

Helsingfors, Finland, Nov. 4.—The city is quiet today. Negotiations are proceeding between workingmen and professional men of all classes to reach an agreement for joint political action. The workingmen demand the immediately calling of a national convention, while the professional classes think that such a course is unnecessary.

London, Nov. 4.—The second edition of the Times today contains a dispatch from St. Petersburg, dated November 3, which says: "Finland has won her freedom. The Czar has surrendered. A manifesto embodying all the demands of the Helsingfors popular delegates will be submitted to the Czar for his signature tonight. The tone of the Finnish constitution is the responsibility of the state to the Diet and not as hitherto to the Czar. The Russian warship which was sent to Helsingfors was intended to signify that while the Czar has consented to the constitutional freedom of Finland, he intends to prevent the severance of the tie between Finland and Russia.

The correspondent of the Central News at Helsingfors, Finland, wires that the Russian squadron ordered to that port has just arrived and troops are being landed. The people are thoroughly determined not to submit to oppressive measures and are very much excited. A terrible conflict seems to be inevitable.

Canvass Drawing to a Close.

New York, Nov. 4.—The mayoralty canvass is drawing to a close and the remaining days until Tuesday will be spent by the leaders making claims as to the pluralities their candidates for office will poll. The situation is still mixed, and uncertain, and astute politicians admit that predictions are worthless because of the peculiar alignments of the voters. The betting favors Mayor McClellan today at 3 to 1. The election of District Attorney Jerome is believed certain, as the opposition to him has fallen flat. The campaign will practically close tonight, with no end of political meetings and a blaze of red fire.

The largest bet of the campaign in New York, was made yesterday when Michael J. Cruise laid $30,000 to $10,000 on McClellan. He also offered to bet $5,000 against $20,000 that McClellan would get more votes than Hearst and Ivins combined.

Between 200,000 and 300,000 campaign postal cards sent out by a political organization were ordered seized today by W. R. Wilcox, postmaster of this city. The cards are illustrated in colors with pictures of Hearst, the late President McKinley and a bomb marked "Coolgoes."

McLeod, 35 years old, graduate of the Harvard medical school, with an office and home at 187 Huntington avenue, who was arrested yesterday, charged with abortion in the Susan Geary case, was arraigned before Judge Burke in the municipal court, this morning, and held in $20,000 bail, for his appearance on Nov. 10. McLeod's father is endeavoring to secure bondsmen for his son. Judge Burke later issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Dean, who ran the house at 68 Winthrop street, Roxbury, where Susan Geary died. The warrant charges abortion.

Three Children Murdered.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—Three children are dead and one is dangerously wounded, while the mother lies fatally injured, at the city hospital, as the result of a tragedy at the home of James Brennan, a fireman, early this morning. The woman says a stranger shot the children through a window, then herself. The police think Mrs. Brennan did the shooting. The couple had separated, but recently became reconciled. She is a stepmother of the children, and is believed to have become temporarily deranged because of jealousy of the children. The woman tried suicide twice previously.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 4.—The impression prevailed on the floor this morning that a number of strong interests were sellers. Although the best information is that this selling was not significant of any change in position by the leading interes s, it induced general selling from many sources of speculative holdings of stocks. A large part of the selling of the general list is based on reports on the floor that the New York Herald canvass to be published tomorrow will show Hearst far in the lead.

Disorders in Russia.

The Czar has signed the ukase providing for amnesty for political prisoners.

Kishineff has again been the scene of a frightful massacre.

The Czarina is said to be an ally of Witte's enemies at court, as she favors continuance of the autocratic regime. Witte's enemies at court are working against him.

The mob at Rowny killed a rich Jewish merchant because he refused to take off his hat to the red flag. A massacre followed.

At Baku, Tiflis and other towns in the Caucassia violent demonstrations took place to emphasize the demand for the release of political prisoners. Troops fired upon the crowds.

Last night the peaceful population of Odessa was practically under a state of siege. Even the markets and restaurants are closed, and it is impossible to get bread or meat. The mob yesterday pillaged a number of Jewish shops in the main streets, and among others the biggest wholesale grocery, that of Rabinovitch. The rioters also burned three factories and killed a physician and two assistants who were dressing wounds. Last night the rioters pillaged the biggest dry goods store in the city. The loss in this case is estimated at $175,000. A hardware store was also looted, involving a loss of $100,000. In addition 12 fur stores were sacked. The consulates and hotels are guarded by troops.

"Gag Order" Resented.

The President's "gag order," issued to members of his Cabinet through Secretary Loeb on the day of the President's departure on his Southern trip, was the subject of discussion at the Cabinet meeting yesterday. This was the first Cabinet meeting held since the President's return, and therefore the first opportunity for discussion of this question between the President and all of his Cabinet assembled together.

It has been well understood that some members of the Cabinet have felt a sense of humiliation on account of this order. Statements as to how the question was first brought up conflict, but it appears that Secretary Wilson introduced the subject and that Secretary Bonaparte and two or three others in the Cabinet made remarks. The general attitude of the members of the Cabinet toward the order comes as near being contemptuous as deference to the President and regard for their relations with him will admit.

The discussion yesterday was principally in the form of dignified and courteous inquiry on the part of members of the Cabinet as to the purpose and meaning of the order, and a very full and insistent explanation and defense of it by the President. There was no manifestation of violent antagonism, but it was made apparent to the President that some of his advisers regarded the order as ill advised and impracticable in application.

The reflection upon individuals of the Cabinet implied in the order was passed over with the reserve which is common among gentlemen in dealing with a question involving their own dignity, but it was manifest that the order was resented and the President was placed on the defensive, with an effort on his part to argue the necessity of the order. The upshot of the discussion was that the President insisted that it should stand, though in effect it was modified by explanation so as to make it apply only to what may transpire in a Cabinet meeting. It was made perfectly plain to the President that members of his Cabinet would insist on exercising the r own discretion as to the discussion of matters relating to their own departments.

Engineer Fatally Shot.

At a late hour last night, Henry E Rufty, a member of the firm of Rufty & Hedrick, of Spencer, N. C., shot and fatally wounded Engineer John M. Connell, of the Southern Railway, in the former's store. The wounded man is in a dying condition and physicians say he cannot live. Connell, who runs between Spencer and Albemarle, had just left his engine and stopped at the store en route home to purchase a pair of shoes. He asked for credit, which was refused, Rufty explaining to him that he had recently inaugurated a cash system. Angry words passed, the men clinched, and Connell, who was the larger man, pushed Rufty across the room. While they were clinched Rufty placed his pistol against Connell's abdomen and fired. Connell rushed to the street and fell unconscious on the sidewalk. Both men are prominent in Salisbury and Spencer and were friends. The wounded man is thirty-five years of age and has a family. Rufty gave himself up at midnight and was committed to the county jail.

Grand Democratic Rally.

Speeches by Senator Martin and Messrs. J. R. Caton and Chas. Bendheim.

A large and appreciative audience gathered at the Opera House last night in response to a call of the democrats of this city for a mass meeting. The hall had been beautifully and tastefully decorated and a fine band of music was in attendance. The audience was composed in the main of representative Alexandrians, including a few prominent republicans.

About eight o'clock the meeting was called to order. The following gentlemen were on the stage: Senator Thos. S. Martin, Mr. James R. Caton, candidate for the House of Delegates; State Senator Lewis H. Machen, Mayor Fred. J. Paff, Messrs. R. E. L. Yellott, and W. T. Bullock, president and vice president, respectively, of the Virginia democratic association of Washington; former Mayor George L. Simpson, Hubert Snowden, president of the Common Council; Councilman J. Y. Williams, Corporation Attorney G. L. Boothe, Dr. William M. Smith, W. B. Smoot, C. C. Carlin, E. E. Lawler, W. H. May, J. T Sweeney, president of the Board of Alderman, and W. A. Smoot, jr.

Mr. Charles Bendheim, chairman of the city democratic committee, presided, and after he had called the meeting to order he made a few timely remarks which were roundly applauded. He said four years had elapsed since the democratic party had had any opposition, and he referred to the fact that the party had ever had good and efficient men at the helm who had steered the old ship safely and satisfactorily to the people of the Commonwealth. He depicted in a vivid manner the woes incidental to past republican rule, and called upon all members of the democratic party to rally to the standard at the approaching election. Mr. Bendheim referred to the recent party conflict in this city, and suggested that that family contest had left all members of the party as staunch democrats as ever. He closed by introducing Mr. James R Caton, who has received the democratic nomination for the House of Delegates from Alexandria city and county three consecutive times.

Mr. Caton advanced amidst applause. When it had subsided he began his speech by saying he always regarded it as an honor to appear before an audience of Alexandria democrats, but his pleasure was still further enhanced to appear as the democratic nominee to the Legislature. He said he desired to express his appreciation of the action of his fellow-citizens who had on three separate occasions selected him for this high honor. Mr. Caton, said he knew the audience had not assembled for the express purpose of hearing him, but to listen to the speech of one more distinguished in the party and nation, one who appeared in a public hall in Alexandria for the first time, but whose work in the Senate of the United States was well-known. [Applause.] Mr. Caton said he was glad to have him present, as were all in the audience. The speaker referred to the late primary election in Alexandria, which he denominated a family disturbance. But all this had blown over, and a united democracy was in evidence facing a common enemy and centered heart and soul upon the nominees of the party. He said it was not his intention to make an extended speech, but desired to say something in reference to his course in the Legislature. He hoped he had no apologies to make, as he had always endeavored to act in the interest of the people of Alexandria city and county whom he represented. He had ever had their interests at heart and would continue to put forth every exertion for their welfare. Mr. Caton said, among other things, he would aid State Senator Machen in his endeavors to bring about legislation which would result in continuing street improvements in Alexandria, as well as further the interests of education in the State. He subsequently took up the issues which the republicans were endeavoring to foist upon the people of the Old Dominion. The adversaries of the democratic party were endeavoring to make people believe that there was such a thing as a new republican party. There might, he said, be a change in the personnel, but not in the organization. There was no change in its principles nor policies. It was the same old enemy of the democratic party and as inimical to the welfare of Virginia as ever. They had precipitated no national issues; it was merely an attempt to secure local self-government. The best answer to their pretenses and promises was a reference to their past history, the time when they did hold the reins of government in Virginia. Mr. Caton then gave a rapid and interesting synopsis of the regime of twenty-odd years ago. He also went back to the close of the civil war when the propagator of the Underwood constitution attempted to virtually disfranchise every white man in Virginia and enfranchise former slaves who were to assist carpet baggers and certain Virginians who consorted with them to rule the Old Dominion, and said that injustice would doubtless have been inflicted upon the State had it not been for President U. S. Grant, who ordered that the people of Virginia be allowed to vote upon that instrument. The people of Virginia in voting on the constitution adopted the public school feature and their subsequent establishment and prosperity is due to the democratic party. Mr. Caton subsequently took the planks of the present republican platform and smashed them one by one. He concluded by urging all democrats to be earnest in their support of the ticket. He was loudly applauded when he finished his speech.

After lively music by the band Mr. Bendheim advanced and introduced Senator Martin. There were loud and prolonged cheers as the Senator advanced. He began his speech by saying that although speech-making was distasteful to him, he experienced an hour of pleasure in being present and surrounded by Alexandria friends. There were many things that made him feel close to the people of this city, beginning at the time when Mr. Bendheim, the Delegate from this city and county in the Legislature, voted for him for U. S. Senator. The speaker said he had always received generous treatment here. He had been criticised for standing by his friends, but he cared nothing for the good will of such critics Alexandria had given many evidences of friendship toward the speaker, and he had earnestly endeavored to show his appreciation of them, as he had toward his State for the honors which had been conferred upon him. He had tried to do his duty and had turned his back upon no man who came to him for his senatorial aid. The Senator said he would make as few personal allusions as possible, but he could not refrain from thanking Alexandrians who had been brought together for a conflict with the common enemy. He referred to Mr. Bendheim's suggestion to the effect that the party was united and ready to march to victory, and said such should be the case and that the members of the party should stand together and move as a unit. Senator Martin said he had prepared no set speech, and what he would say would be as neighbor to neighbor or friend to friend. The election next Tuesday would be the first State election under the new constitution. It has been four years since there was such an election, and democrats are more pronounced in their convictions than they were then. Virginians, he said, act from reason and conviction. The republicans have been blustering and talking about a new republican party, and probably the attention of some voters of the State had been enlisted by their vaporings, but the great majority had asked themselves the question, Why should we change our officers? Democrats, after pondering over all that had been said, had propounded to themselves that pertinent question. They had reasoned logically. Judge Lewis had attempted to give some reasons why there should be a change in State affairs. He had stated that the party had been purified and regenerated. Then, according to the judge's statement, it must have heretofore been rotten. The judge had also said the negro had been eliminated from the politics of the State. The republican party, the speaker said, was entitled to no thanks for this, as the democrats had eliminated the colored man against the protest of Judge Lewis and his party; hence if the republican party has been purified and regenerated and the negro eliminated, the democratic party has performed that work. Judge Lewis had also said that another reason why the State should be put in the hands of the republicans was that Virginia was not as conspicuous in national affairs as she would be under Judge Lewis's party. The absurdity of this observation was made plain by the Senator who called attention to the fact that the administration could not find a suitable man in the republican ranks in Virginia for a prominent position. Judge Lewis had proclaimed his honesty, and given that as one reason why he should be elected Governor of Virginia. The speaker did not question his assertion, but said he is a rara avis in his party. By the time the organization fills local positions, the Senator, said there seems to be no honest members left for national positions. There was no republican from Virginia in the Cabinet; no one occupied the post of minister or a consul to even a fifth-rate county. If the national republican organization could not find a man in Virginia suitable for either position, how can we? The party would naturally have appointed one could such have been found. Senator Martin referred to Mr. Park Agnew, formerly collector of internal revenue for this district, and said he was an honest man, and that in his arraignment of the republican party he did not mean to say that all its members are devoid of integrity. Mr. Agnew had been deposed from his position and a man from the southwestern portion of the State put in his place. This was the way they built up the party. There was not a man in the organization, it seemed, regarded as of sufficient importance to be a bureau chief. Judge Lewis had said that democrats were unable to secure big appropriations. If that was true it should be sufficient in itself to cause every republican to repudiate the party. If that was their standard it was low and sordid. In the Senate money was not appropriated from a political standpoint. The speaker said he would vote for an appropriation urged by Senator Lodge, for Massachusetts, if the same was just, as quickly as if the money was to go to Virginia. Appropriations were made on their merit, not for partisan purposes. Judge Lewis had said that there had been graft, in Virginia. The Senator said there had been some in Washington recently, but not one democrat had been implicated in such scandals. He referred to Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, and two members of the House from the same State. There had been but little graft in Virginia and that had been promptly dealt with. He called attention to the fact that the democrats since they had been in power had disbursed $60,000,000, and but a small percentage had been lost through delinquent officials. Could insurance companies, railroads, &c., make as good a showing? Suppose the republicans had had charge of Virginia during the past twenty years, could they have made as creditable a showing? The bricks in the Capitol Square in Richmond would have been cut up and divided between them. Judge Lewis had talked much concerning honest election laws. He did not seem to desire such in Petersburg years ago when he induced the federal government to send troops to Petersburg against the protest of the Mayor of the city and the Governor of the State. The time had not come when Virginians wanted a man for Governor who had foisted bayonet rule on the State. Mr. Swanson would never invoke the aid of the military. This was not all. Judge Lewis had said he was not ashamed of his action and had no apologies to make. He will be be ashamed before he is made Governor and should he live to be as old as Methuselah he could never apologize enough for his action to defeat Mr. Swanson. In reference to schools Senator Martin said Mr. Caton had made that question clear to his hearers. He, however, referred to the fact that the Underwood constitution had been adopted in 1868 and that, according to that instrument, the schools were not to be established until 1876. The democrats, however, put them into operation the next year. In his reference to free books, a bait thrown out by the republicans, the Senator said the present school system was now excellent, but better still was wanted. But it took money to improve present conditions. There was a surplus of $307,000 in the State treasury, and in the future it was estimated that there would be about $500,000 annually over expenditures. The democrats will use a large portion of this sum toward improving educational facilities. Should the republican suggestion be followed this surplus would be spent in purchasing books to be distributed gratis to children and nothing would be left for the betterment of the schools. Negro children would be benefitted, and while the speaker said he would not be ungenerous to such, he would state that 96 per cent of the school tax is paid by white people and 4 per cent. by colored. The people, he thought, had done well toward the colored race. In many places in the State there were five-months' sessions and teachers received $25 per month. The democrats desired to change these conditions. The Senator appealed to his hearers to benefit the whites before any more was done for the negro. Let the parents of the latter purchase books, and should any children be found unable to procure the same the school authorities will furnish the books. The republicans, however, want white parents to purchase books for their children and those for negroes also, many of whom are worthless. Such a plank should be enough to cause any Virginian to vote the democratic ticket. The Senator graphically portrayed a no-account negro with an armful of books, furnished by the public, shirking work. If the democrats, he said, in eliminating the negro from politics had done nothing else, they should receive the plaudits of posterity. Senator Martin alluded to the struggle now in progress in Maryland toward imitating the action of Virginia. He read the plank in the platform which says that negro suffrage was by force and against the will of the people of Maryland foisted upon her people. Judge Lewis had aided in inflicting the same upon Virginia. The Poe amendment was intended to relegate the negro to the rear. The speaker appealed to his audience if they did not sympathize with the people of Maryland in their attempts to throw off the incubus. "God grant," he said, "that Senator Gorman's banner may prevail in the interests of the Anglo-Saxon supremacy. We have had the same struggles; the Senator is struggling for the same conditions in Maryland as those prevailing in Virginia." Senator Gorman in a succient manner then showed how economically the affairs of Virginia had been conducted in the last twenty years. In his reference to the late State convention he said that body had nearly eliminated the republican party from Virginia when it eliminated the negro. It had left Mr. Agnew and a few white members of the party to hold the offices. The republicans had deposed Mr. Agnew because he was too much like a democrat—too honest for them. He was a non-partisan officeholder. The Senator said he went to see Secretary Shaw in behalf of Mr. Agnew, but the only answer he obtained from this cabinet officer was "His successor has just been appointed." The speaker in closing criticised the latter's tariff expressions in Alexandria recently. Among other things he said it was a fact no one could controvert that under present tariff laws a man wearing a five-dollar foreign-made hat paid $2 50 for the caputical covering and $2.50 tariff duty, and a lady who can afford a foreign-made silk dress paid $40 for the garment and $60 in tariff duty. By such conditions American manufacturers run their prices up to exorbitant figures, realizing that tariff laws keep out competition; hence you pay taxes to the government or the manufacturer. The Senator said it was a significant past that Mr. Shaw said nothing about the State of Virginia in his speech. He saw his party had no case here. Mr. Roosevelt had been disappointed in his visit to Virginia. Senator Martin in closing said that there was every reason to believe Mr. Swanson would carry the State by between 30,000 and 35,000 majority. He urged all democrats to cast their ballots and endeavor to roll up as large a majority as possible. He especially enjoined on his hearers the importance of giving Mr. Caton as large a majority as possible.

The hall rang with earnest applause when the Senator ceased to speak, and the stage was soon crowded with persons to congratulate him. His speech was animated, logical and interesting from the beginning to the end.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Cleared for Action.

When the body is cleared for action, by Dr. King's New Life Pills, you can tell it by the bloom of health on the cheeks; the brightness of the eyes; the firmness of the flesh and muscles; the buoyancy of the mind. Try them. At E. H. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store, 25 cents.

The Exact Thing Required for Constipation.

"As a certain purgative and stomach purifier Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets seem to be the exact thing required, strong enough for the most robust, yet mild enough and safe for children and without that terriole griping so common to most purgatives," say R. S. Webster & Co., Ustora, Ontario, Canada. For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Every Ounce You Eat.

Every ounce of food you eat that fails to digest does a pound of harm. It turns the entire meal into poison. This not only deprives the blood of the necessary tissue-building material, but it poisons it. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is a perfect digestant. It digests the food regardless of the condition of the stomach. It allows that organ to rest and get strong again. Relieves Belching, Heart Burn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, etc. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

Stopped with a Pistol.

A young man while on his way home from one of the glass factories in the northwestern part of the city last night was accosted by a stranger who placed a pistol in his face. He pretended he had intercepted the wrong man and allowed the young man to proceed.

Presentation of a Jewel.

An interesting incident at the meeting last night of Mount Vernon Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, was the presentation of a Past Grand High Priest's jewel to Mr. W. H. Lambert, of this city, by the Grand Chapter of the State of Virginia. The grand body at its last meeting ordered that jewels be struck for the four of the oldest living Past Grand High Priests, one of which would have been presented to Mr. Lambert at the recent meeting in Richmond had that gentleman been present, but he was in St. Louis at the time, and Past Grand High Priest James E Alexander was selected to present the token at the meeting of Mount Vernon Chapter last night. Mr. Alexander accordingly fulfilled his mission, and in doing so spoke in an appropriate manner of the services of the elder Past High Priest. The latter in accepting the token of regard from the Grand Chapter replied in a feeling and impressive manner. The three others upon whom the Grand Chapter conferred the honors were Col. R. E. Withers, of Wytheville; Col. Robert Craighill, of Lynchburg, and Col. A. S. Lee, of Richmond. The jewels are of solid gold of beautiful workmanship, studded with precious stones. The Royal Arch decree was later conferred upon a candidate.

Double Tracking Southern.

The bed for the double tracking of the Southern Railway between Danville and Pelham has been completed, and several forces of workmen are now engaged in laying the tracks. A new steam shovel is being put in use at Jaffa, near the extension of the street car line, and the work is being pushed through with all possible speed. During several days last week a force was kept on both night and day. The work is being done under contract, and it is thought that the track will be completed and put in use by about the 10th of December. The double-track between Danville and Stokesland will greatly improve the railroad service at Danville and prevent the detaining of trains at the switch, south of that city.

Shot His Brother.

Two boys, sons of Mr. Robert Sorrell, living near the old canal basin, became involved in a fight this morning, when the elder struck the younger with an iron bolt. The latter entered a fisherman's ark nearby, procured a gun and shot his brother in the leg, inflicting a flesh wound. Dr. Jones, who was summoned, rendered surgical aid. Reports were circulated in the city this morning to the effect that there had been a fratricide and Lieutenant Smith sent officer Garvey to investigate the affair, and the above is a version of the affair as given by the officer.

Brakeman Killed.

Samuel Pridy, 22 years old, of Richmond, a brakeman on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, was struck by an engine and instantly killed on the tracks at Virginia avenue and Four-and-a-half street southwest Washington, yesterday morning. When the train on which he was working arrived at the freight yards Pridy alighted and uncoupled the train in the center. He then stepped back on another track to give the engineer the signal to go ahead. As he did so the engine of an outgoing train struck him. His body was badly mutilated.

Visit From Mechanics.

A delegation, comprising representatives of all departments of the mechanical position of the Washington navy yard, called upon Senator Martin, in this city, early last night to express their appreciation of his efforts in their behalf. Among other things the Senator assured the delegates that he would do all in his power to bring about an order of things by which men injured while at work at the navy yard would have surgical attention and be properly cared for when disabled.

Bicycle Recovered.

Lieutenant Smith today recovered a bicycle which was stolen on October 5 from the front of a store on Seventh street, near Pennsylvania avenue, Washington. The wheel was found by a colored man named Wilson Reed, near Four-mile run, and he notified the lieutenant. The wheel belonged to Mr. Edward Appich, of Washington.

Improvements at Depot.

The work of beautifying the surroundings of the new union depot is progressing. The bed for the vitrified roadway west and south of the depot has been prepared, while sodding is in progress at the northern entrance. The railway embankment on the west has been leveled and the sods are now being placed on it.

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

DO YOU KNOW

THAT when I purchased the Naramore Gallery I received with it over 16,000 negatives dating back to 1889.

THAT a negative of father, mother, child or self may be among the lot.

THAT I can locate any of these negatives and furnish you with excellent up-to-date photos from them.

THAT if the print in the old album is faded you had better have a few fresh ones made—mine won't fade.

YOU KNOW very well you have never seen a faded Jameson photograph. Ask your friends if they have; there's a reason.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that they declared were entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

"Caught With the Goods on Him."

Judge Lewis, republican candidate for governor of Virginia, asserts with great warmth that he does not believe in marriage between whites and blacks, and that he has never believed in it. We accept that statement as true, but at the same time Judge Lewis must admit that his feelings on this subject must be very different from the feelings of the great body of white people in Virginia, otherwise he never would have taken a case in 1879 with the purpose of having this law broken down. Whatever he may have said in 1877 in a debate with Judge Hundley at Chesterfield courthouse, he does not deny that two years later, namely, in 1879, he went before Judge Hughes of the United States district court for the eastern district of Virginia, and sued out a writ of habeas corpus to test the constitutionality of the law forbidding intermarriage between blacks and whites, his clients being a negro man and white woman who had gone from Virginia to Washington and married and returned to Virginia to live. Judge Hughes rendered a decision sustaining the validity of the statute. While he may not have approved such marrying, evidently he was quite willing that there should be no prohibition of it, and he was willing, for a consideration, to break down the barriers between the Anglo-Saxon and the black races, to the great injury of the race integrity of each race. It matters little what a man believes in, as an abstract proposition, if his acts are such as to contribute toward the contamination socially of his own people. No man who wished, in those dark and anxious days, to stand with his people, would, for a paltry fee, perform a service that might result in their ultimate undoing. The discovery of this case, the existence of which no one denies, makes it utterly impossible for any Virginia democrat to support him for governor.—[Staunton Dispatch.

Pranks of Students.

Three members of Cornell University, following the under-class rush Thursday night, greased the rails of the street car track at the top of a steep grade on the campus at Ithaca, N. Y., and sent a car loaded with passengers slipping down the hill at a frightful pace.

To add to the danger, one of the number ran up behind the car before it reached the greased spot and pulled the trolley arm from the wire. Luckily, the conductor was able to replace the trolley before the car had gone far, and by reversing the power and applying the emergency brake, the motorman was able to bring the car to a stop just before it reached the deep gorge at the entrance to the campus. Had it gone fifty feet farther twenty lives might have been lost.

The crew chased the miscreants, but they escaped into the woods. The railway company has offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the culprits. The university committee on students, conduct also has started an investigation.

Short Sermons.

"The Rev. Oliver Johnson of South Carolina is becoming known all over the South for his short and scholarly sermons," said a prominent divine in this city a few days ago. "The Seceders formerly were known for their long sermons, lasting sometimes an entire day, but it is Mr. Johnson, a Seceder, who is now making the record of the country for short sermons. This eminent divine seldom speaks over twenty minutes, and those who have heard him declare that he says as much in fifteen minutes as most men would say in two hours. Ministers not infrequently ask for copies of his sermons in order that they may study his style—the masterful manner in which he puts much thought into short space. The fame of the preacher is widespread; his sermons are the talk of the country."—[Washington Evening Star.
